INTRODUCTION

Versa RF is a non-surgical radio frequency, pulsed electromagnetic device designed to tighten the skin, smooth cellulite, reduce circumference and soften wrinkles. The device delivers radio frequency and pulsed electromagnetic energy targeted at the tissue designed to damage the existing collagen and stimulating the healing response in the body. Once the collagen has been damaged, the body begins to repair the collagen by replacing the damaged collagen with new collagen. The radio frequency also stimulates the body to produce new fibroblasts, the "houses" that create collagen thus increasing the amount of collagen in the tissue. This wound healing response creates a smoother appearance to the skin, plumps up fine lines and wrinkles as well as treats acne and reduces the appearance of cellulite and stretch marks. Pulsed electromagnetic fields increase the vascularity of the skin and create new pathways for the blood to flow. This increase in blood will provide more oxygen to the skin and bring more nutrients to the tissue. A more youthful and fresh glow is common after treatments.

POTENTIAL BENEFITS OF THE VERSA RADIO FREQUENCY

The Versa RF will aid in the improvement of the skin texture and appearance. When discussing the potential benefits the Versa RF with you, we may have shown you a variety of before and after images. It is important to remind you that these images were used as an educational tool to allow you to visualize the general range skin improvements that may be achieved with your proposed treatment; the before and after images are not meant to be guarantees of actual or exact outcome.

RISKS ASSOCIATED WITH THE VERSA RADIO FREQUENCY

Every cosmetic procedure involves a very small degree of risk and, although exceedingly uncommon, it is important that you understand and accept the rare risks involved with the Versa RF. An individual's informed decision to undergo any cosmetic procedure is based upon a comparison of the risks against the potential benefits, alternatives and costs.

Although the vast majority of Versa RF patients never experience any of these complications, you should discuss each of them with us to ensure you fully understand the alternatives, risks, potential complications and average outcomes of the Versa RF treatments.

Blisters – in rare cases a blister may occur as a result of the treatment. In this instance, we will recommend a prescription or an over the counter medication for treatment of the blister.

Hyper or Hypo – pigmentation – in very rare cases a patient may experience changes in their skin color which may or may not be permanent. In these cases, we will recommend appropriate procedures which may address the changes in the appearance of the color of the tissue.

Swelling – edema, swelling of the skin, is common and will resolve in a few days. Edema may occur as early as immediately post treatment and as late as a few days post treatment. It is advised to seek a consultation and follow up appointment with Silk, A Medical Spa should you require medical attention or have concerns.

There are many variable conditions, in addition to risks and potential complications listed above, that may influence the long-term result from the Versa RF. Even though risks and complications can occur infrequently, the risks cited in this booklet are particularly associated with the Versa RF. Other complications and risks can occur but are even less common. Should complications occur, additional procedures or treatments may be necessary. The practice of medicine and surgery is not an exact science. Although good results are expected, there is no guarantee or warranty, expressed or implied, as to the results that may be obtained. Infrequently, it is necessary to perform additional treatment to improve your results.

HEALTH INSURANCE

Most health insurance companies exclude coverage for cosmetic procedures such as the Versa RF. Health related complications that may arise from such treatment may not be covered by all insurance plans. Please carefully review your health insurance subscriber-information pamphlet, if you have a private insurance carrier.

FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITIES

Depending on whether the cost of treatment is covered by an insurance plan, you will be responsible for all necessary payments. Additional costs may occur should complications develop from treatment. There are no refunds once a treatment has been performed.
